Brief History of the 501st, 502nd and 2nd Brigade (101st ABN DIV)

The 502nd, or "five-oh-deuce", was activated July 1, 1941 at Fort Benning, Georgia as the 502nd parachute infantry battalion, as an experimental unit formed to test the doctrine and tactics of parachute assaults. The 502nd entered combat in World War II on June 6, 1944, by jumping into Normandy, with allied forces landing on D-Day and the Battle of Normandy. Between 1945 and 1964. A major reorganization took place on 3 February 1964, when the 2nd Brigade of the 101st Airborne was activated at Fort Campbell, replacing the 1st Airborne Battle Group, 501st Infantry Regiment. The reorganization from the battle groups to brigades and battalions placed two battalions of the 502nd in different brigades of the 101st.

The 2nd Battalion, 502nd Infantry was in the 1st Brigade with 1-327th and 2-327th Infantry. Which deployed to Vietnam and arrived at Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam on 29 July 1965, they were commanded by the most notable commander LTC Hank "The Gunfighter" Emerson.

The new 2nd Brigade's original organic battalions were the 1st and 2d Battalions, 501st Infantry, and the 1st Battalion, 502nd Infantry. December 1967 the 501st, 502nd and 2nd Brigade deployed by C-141 aircraft and arrived at Bien Hoa Airbase on 13 December 1967. Over the next five years, Soldiers of the "Ready to Go" Brigade participated in twelve campaigns, compiling of a distinguished combat record as well as an enviable reputation for success in the rehabilitation of a war-torn nation. The Brigade redeployed to Fort Campbell in April 1972.

STRIKE HISTORY (Citation's and Awards):

09 January 1967

SP5 Everett Bagley Jr. (HHC/2-502 IN) was awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action against a hostile force on 9 January 1967, near Kentum, Republic of Vietnam. During the hours of darkness on that night, the Reconnaissance Platoon had established an ambush position along a jungle trail when an estimated reinforced enemy squad was detected entering the killing zone. When the ambush was triggered, four men of the friendly element were wounded and remained in an exposed area. Upon receiving word that casualties had been inflicted on the friendly element Specialist Five Bagley, with complete disregard for his own safety, moved through heavy enemy fire while attempting to locate his wounded comrades in the darkness. Locating the first wounded man, Specialist Bagley immediately administered the needed medical aid and pulled the man to a safe area. Specialist Bagley then continued to move through the bullet-swept area until he had located and treated the three remaining wounded men and had personally carried them to covered positions. On Two occasions, Specialist Bagley drew fire from the enemy while using his flashlight in order to give the more seriously wounded emergency medical treatment. One time, while using his flashlight to treat the wounded, Specialist Bagley was struck in the head by grenade fragments and wounded. Despite his wounds and the heavy enemy fire, Specialist Bagley continued to give medical treatment until all the wounded were safe. Specialist Five Bagley's outstanding display of gallantry in action and his devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, the Americal Division, and the United States Army. (AD; General Orders Number 1405; 27 November 1967)

10 January 1967

SFC Hyde L. Taylor (B/2-502 IN) was awarded the Silver Star Medal. Platoon Sergeant Taylor's platoon, while on a search and destroy mission, was suddenly brought under a murderous volume of enemy fire. As Sergeant Taylor began to maneuver his platoon against the enemy position, two of his men were wounded. With complete disregard for his own personal safety, Sergeant Taylor rushed 25 meters through withering enemy fire to aid his wounded comrades. As Sergeant Taylor administered medical aid, he observed three enemy soldiers attempting to assault the flank of his platoon. Realizing the lives of his wounded comrades were in jeopardy and his platoon was in serious danger Sergeant Taylor, again with complete disregard for his own personal safety, jumped up and charged the enemy soldiers, firing his weapon and causing them to flee the battle area. As a result of Sergeant Taylor's actions, several lives were saved, numerous casualties were prevented, and the platoon was able to make a successful assault on the enemy position. Sergeant Taylor's outstanding gallantry and his avid devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest military traditions and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. (IFFV; General Orders Number 337; 12 April 1967)

10 January 1967

PFC Alan D. Whitlock (B/2-502 IN) was awarded the Bronze Star medal with Valor (Posthumously) for heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force. Private First Class Whitlock distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions on 10 January 1967, near Kontum, Republic of Vietnam. While on a search and destroy mission; Private Whitlock and one of his comrades were serving as point men for their platoon. As his comrade turned a sharp curve in the trail, Private Whitlock observed him charge down the trail firing his weapon. Rushing forward, Private Whitlock turned the curve in the trail and observed his comrade fall to the ground wounded. With complete disregard for his own personal safety, Private Whitlock charged forward firing his weapon in an attempt to aid his wounded comrade, but was mortally wounded by enemy fire before reaching the other man. His devotion to duty and personal courage were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service, and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army.
