Brief History of the 501st, 502nd and 2nd Brigade (101st ABN DIV)

The 502nd, or “five-oh-deuce”, was activated July 1, 1941 at Fort Benning, Georgia as the 502nd parachute infantry battalion, as an experimental unit formed to test the doctrine and tactics of parachute assaults. The 502nd entered combat in World War II on June 6, 1944, by jumping into Normandy, with allied forces landing on D-Day and the Battle of Normandy. Between 1945 and 1964. A major reorganization took place on 3 February 1964, when the 2nd Brigade of the 101st Airborne was activated at Fort Campbell, replacing the 1st Airborne Battle Group, 501st Infantry Regiment. The reorganization from the battle groups to brigades and battalions placed two battalions of the 502nd in different brigades of the 101st.

The 2nd Battalion, 502nd Infantry was in the 1st Brigade with 1-327th and 2-327th Infantry. Which deployed to Vietnam and arrived at Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam on 29 July 1965, they were commanded by the most notable commander LTC Hank “The Gunfighter” Emerson.

The new 2nd Brigade's original organic battalions were the 1st and 2d Battalions, 501st Infantry, and the 1st Battalion, 502nd Infantry. December 1967 the 501st, 502nd and 2nd Brigade deployed by C-141 aircraft and arrived at Bien Hoa Airbase on 13 December 1967. Over the next five years, Soldiers of the “Ready to Go” Brigade participated in twelve campaigns, compiling of a distinguished combat record as well as an enviable reputation for success in the rehabilitation of a war-torn nation. The Brigade redeployed to Fort Campbell in April 1972.

During this week, in the span of 8 years since the 501st Infantry Regiment, 502nd Infantry Regiment and 2nd Brigade, 101st Airborne Division deployed in support of the Vietnam War the following are from After Action Reports, Staff Duty Logs, and Personal Accounts. Operation FILLMORE: The 1BDE of the 101st ABN DIV and the 47th ARVN DIV, with the support of the 117th Assault Helicopter Company, succeeded in protecting the rice harvest throughout the TUY HOA Valley, marking the first time in more than ten (10) years that rice was not imported into this area to support the local population. In addition to assuring an ample food supply for our allies and denying the enemy of his source of supply, these units, spirited by the veteran 117th, blunted the attack of a North Vietnamese Army Regiment and routed them so as to cause the complete dispersion of all their units. In order to exploit this dispersion, the 2-502 IN BN, with the support of the 117th, developed special Recondo teams to pursue the fleeing Viet Cong. These tactics proved successful and continued until the close of Operation FILLMORE.

Personal Account of Friendly Fire Incident TUY HOA, Vietnam; by George R Basset (E-4) Fire Team Leader & Point Man- 2nd squad, 1st platoon, Co B, 2/502 Abn. Inf., 101st Airborne Division. I will relate my participation in an event that took Place at TUY HOA, Viet Nam on March 26, 1966:

We were operating as a company sized unit high in the mountains of TUY HOA, PHU YEN Province, in search of the 95th NVA Regiment with orders to engage and destroy them. On March 24, one of the men in my fire team, PFC James Campbell, slipped and sustained injuries to his back and claimed that he could not walk. He was unable to urinate, and the medic suspected a ruptured bladder. Due to the terrain and the proximity to the enemy there was no way to get a helicopter in to extract him. We were instructed to construct a litter and carry him, which we did. Our goal was to gain the rice paddies that were 5000-6000 meters away, where our company would be extracted by helicopter. We were traveling in a company sized unit, with a recon squad on point, followed by 2nd platoon, then us, 1st platoon, with 3rd platoon bringing up the rear. Campbell was a member of our squad and it became our responsibility to carry him. We were short of men, having lost several not long before, including our Squad Leader, Estevan "Chico" Alvarado, who had been shot 4 times on 6 Feb. and evacuated to the U.S. We had 4 men on the litter, myself and Pfc James Hudspeth on the front with Pfc Ben Chavez and another trooper on the other end. We were high in the mountains and descending down a saddle, following a small game trail with a steep rocky mountain face to our immediate left. We had been carrying Campbell for 1 1/2 days at that point and could see our goal, the paddies, from our high vantage point about a mile to our front. Gunfire to our front suddenly erupted to be shortly followed by more gunfire from about 100 meters above us from the side of a rock-strewn mountain to our left. We all went to the ground in place and returned fire despite not knowing from exactly where we were being shot at from among the rocks. We had an artillery Forward Observer traveling with us (I shall not name him) and he immediately called for the artillery to fire a white phosphorus air burst to adjust their fire from. After the air burst, he made his calculations and told them to fire for effect. The artillery battery, consisting of 5 105-millimeter artillery pieces then fired for effect. The FO shouted, "shot out" and we all hugged the ground as closely as we could. Very shortly thereafter, I heard an indescribably sound that I had never heard before or since in my life. The closest way that I can describe it would be like laying between a set of railroad tracks and have a high-speed locomotive pass over you. Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion, branches, debris, dust, smoke and shrapnel were flying among us and newly wounded men were screaming. My ears were ringing, and I sat up immediately and the first thing that I noted was that one of the nearby troopers was examining his rifle as it had a piece of smoking shrapnel the size of the palm of your hand wedged in the flash suppressor. Troopers were hollering but I couldn't hear them clearly. Lt. Cousins RTO was on the radio trying to get the CP to tell the FO to "Check fire". He could not transmit as the speaker cord has been severed by the shrapnel. The RTO had been wounded and gave up trying to use the radio. I saw PVT Campbell get up off the stretcher and run like hell??? My hearing started to improve, and Lt Cousins ran by me and told me to "Help that Man". I looked for Hudspeth that had been lying next to me and couldn't find him. I heard a voice screaming from a nearby ravine "Get it off me, get it off me" I descended into the ravine and could hear where the screaming was coming from but could not see the person as the ravine where the screaming was coming from was filled with purple smoke. PFC Wayne Linville accompanied me into the raving despite having a shrapnel wound to the leg. I went into the smoke and saw a trooper, PFC Hudspeth, and grabbed him by his LBE and pulled him from the smoke and noted that his face and head were severely burned. Most of the damage coming from a purple smoke grenade that he wore on his LBE right suspender. The smoke grenade had burned the side of his face to the bone. The device was still burning when I ripped it off. It was with great difficulty that I dragged him up onto the trail, Linville was not able to assist due to his wounds. After gaining the trail with Hudspeth, I noted that his leg had been cutoff between the ankle and the knee but was not bleeding, just a white bone stub sticking out of the amputated limb. I rolled him over to check for other wounds and found that one of his buttocks had been blown off. Linville made a spontaneous cry of surprise that Hudspeth's leg had been cut off and it was at this point that Hudspeth knew that he was in bad shape. I stayed with him while a medic worked over him, but I believe that he knew that he was dying, and he asked me to make sure that his mother got his camera. (not long before, he had received a letter from his wife letting him know that she had filed for divorce and it really galled us to know that she would be getting his military insurance) A1E Sky raiders showed up on the scene and silenced any further fire from the mountain side with napalm. I believe that 11 men were wounded, and several killed as a result of one arty round hitting a tree directly above us. It took several hours to patch up the wounded, make stretchers and collect all the gear. The decent was now even slower than it had been before, and it took quite a while to reach the paddies. I was amazed to see one of the seriously wounded NCOs (Archuletta) helping to carry one of the stretchers. He had a severe gunshot wound to the jaw and his head had been wrapped with so many bandages that the only visible part of his face that you could see was his eyes. I can't remember what became of Campbell after he bolted off the stretcher and ran. Medivac choppers were circling the paddies below waiting for our arrival. Due to the number of casualties and the seriousness of their wounds they had several surgeons on board. Hudspeth died from loss of blood on the chopper in route to the medical facility. From that day on whenever an artillery fire mission was called in and word was shouted "Shot out" I trembled as did others that were there that day. From this time forward, I recall very little. My tour was up in early June 1966, and I returned to Ft. Campbell and shortly after my arrival, I was assigned as an enlisted orderly to Maj General Ben Sternberg, Commanding General, 101st Airborne Division. The duty was "plush" with many perks that came with the assignment. Within two months I became bored and applied to return to Viet Nam as a door gunner on a huey chopper. The paperwork took months and by the time it was approved, I had only two months remaining on my enlistment in the army. I extended my enlistments for another 10 months in order to be able to complete a full year tour as a door gunner. Upon arriving in Viet Nam for my second tour, I was assigned to the 170th Assault helicopter Co. in Pleiku, 26 miles from the Cambodian. Part of our duties was to clandestinely insert and extract SOG recon teams into and out of Cambodia.

The 2BDE begins 100 days of cordon operations in the THUA THIEN Province, Republic of Vietnam.

26 – 28 March 1968

The 1-501 IN BN cordons THON THUA HOA, resulting in 31 NVA KIA, 18 VC KIA, and 5400 lbs. of rice captured.

- 26 March 1968 The 1-502 IN BN, CPT Greg Mills established a small 4.2 mortar site at FSB LYON. C/1-502 IN was flown in to guard FSB LYON and B/1-502 IN was in the valley to the West of FSB LYON 629223 (hill 285) in heavy contact with the enemy. An error in adjustment of the 4.2 mortar fire resulted in heavy casualties. Retired LTG Cushman, 2BDE Commander at the time, recalled this as the worst memory of his military career. (HQ, 1-502 IN BN; Annual Historical Supplement 1968)
- 26 March 1968 B/1-502 IN operating along a trail in the hills six miles south of LZ SALLY, made contact with an estimated enemy platoon. As First Strike's mortar platoon was firing 4.2-inch rounds into the jungle ahead of the column, a fire direction miscalculation placed several rounds directly on the company commander's command group near the head of the column. I was in the air at the time and took my Huey C&C ship into a tiny cleared area by vertical descent and ascent. Along with dust-off helicopters we were able to get the dead and wounded out. To the great grief of all concerned, B/1-502 IN lost 11 KIA and 19 WIA. (2D BRIGADE/101ST TASK FORCE IN VIETNAM; FORTY YEARS AGO, THIS WEEK (March 23-29, 1968); By LTG (then COL) John H. Cushman)
- 26 March 1968 The 2BDE was planning to move its command post to Camp EVANS where we would take charge of areas of operations of brigades of the 1CD which were to move northward to a major operation west of QUANG TRI, relieving the besieged US Marines at KHE SAHN. We would be joined in our new AO by the 3BDE, 2-327 IN BN, but would leave behind the 1-501 IN BN, attached to the 3BDE, 82AD, just arrived from Fort Bragg. The 3BDE/82AD would take over LZ SALLY.
- With the loss of too many fine troopers to sapper's just days before, and even more to the 1-502 IN BN's mortar accident, and with little to show from our air assault and search and destroy operations, recent days had been discouraging. But on March 27, the 1-501 IN BN launched an operation that would begin a new phase for the 2d Brigade. It was to be our first "cordon," or "encirclement." (2D BRIGADE/101ST TASK FORCE IN VIETNAM; FORTY YEARS AGO THIS WEEK (March 23-29, 1968); By LTG (then COL) John H. Cushman)

At 0325H, A/2-501 IN radar shows most of the enemy personnel leaving the area, will pursue with fire and continue indirect support. At 0330H, C42 element see's movement at the bottom of the hill, will engage with M-79. At 0405H, A/2-501 IN reported that a small group was trying to dig in; indirect fire will be fired all night until first light. A few of the individuals could be seen with the naked eye. At 1640H, B/2-501 IN has 1 more body count, firing among from South to Southeast. At 1725H, B/2-501 IN reported that they have 2 more WIA; Totals for the day were 2 KIA, 1 WIA Evac, 2 Non-Evac. At 1810H, B/2-501 IN reported one more WIA from smalls arms fire. At 1836H, B/2-501 IN reported 1 more lightly WIA. At 1837H, B/2-501 IN reported body count total today is 5. - 26 – 27 March 1968 The 1-501 IN BN learned that part of the 810 VC local force battalion had just moved to the vicinity of a hamlet, THUAN HOA, on the west bank of the PERFUME River. US Navy patrol boats, with whom the 1/501 were in contact, made a similar report. LTC Wayne J. Prokup, battalion commander, had already laid on a two-company combat assault, supported by the 188th Assault Helicopter Co. Redirecting its objectives, he launched in the early morning.
- By noon A/1-501 IN, having moved again by helicopter, was approaching THUAN HOA from the west. D/1-501 IN BN then air assaulted to a hot LZ to the hamlet's south; the 1-501 IN BN, Recon platoon was lifted into position to the north. Artillery, gunships, and three airstrikes had supported the 1-501 IN BN. Wayne Prokup and I could see that, with Navy patrol boats in the PERFUME River, we had the enemy encircled. But night was coming on, and the surrounded enemy might slip away. So, we called on USAF C-47's to drop flares so that the encircling troopers could see. During the night escaping enemy were killed or driven back, after bringing up Psyops loudspeakers to broadcast surrender appeals without result, the 1-501 IN BN with artillery and air support took the hamlet. Results: 2 US KIA, 19 US WIA; 31 NVA KIA, 3 NVA POW, 22 VC KIA. This action would be followed by similar 2BDE encirclements.
- Meanwhile in the mountains fifteen miles to the southwest of LZ SALLY, the 2-501 IN BN, supported by artillery and tactical air strikes, had been in heavy contact with the 9th Battalion, 90th NVA Regiment. The brigade journal reported: "Enemy assessment 7 NVA KIA, Friendly losses: 1 KIA, 10 WIA." Phan Rang to Khanh Duong: The 2-502 IN BN moved by C-130 and motor convoy to Khanh Duong, a village northwest of NINH HOA in KHANH HOA Province. The convoy carried the material needed to establish a base camp at KHANH DUONG, and 2-502 IN BN, with the mission of securing the new brigade base, began patrolling the surrounding area and planning for Operation SUMMERALL. KHANH HOA Province is classified as Central Highlands, and most of the 2-502's operations were conducted in very mountainous terrain during the rainy season. This combination of conditions put a considerable strain on troops and equipment, especially during the campaign on HON BA Mountain against Regiment 18-B.

On arrival in KHANH DUONG, the 1BDE assumed the mission of road security for Route 21. This task initially fell on the 2-502 IN BN which had C/2-327 IN, under its OPCON for this purpose. The military security along a portion of Route 21 allowed traffic to proceed from DUC MY to KHANH DUONG without paying VC road tolls and helped bring the Montagnard Villages near the highway under RVN control. (Picture of KHANH DUONG Airfield)

28 March 1968 Rifle companies of the 1-501 IN BN made contact with elements of the 803rd NVA Regiment. D/1-501 IN paratroopers swept an area two and one-half miles north of HUE. Stiff enemy resistance indicated a sizable force in the area. The Battalion sweep, aided by Naval gun fire, artillery and air strikes, netted 24 NVA killed, 10 AK-47's and eight SKS carbines captured. (Rendezvous with Destiny Volume 1, Number 2; July 1968)

28 March 1968 1-502 IN BN continued search and destroy operations and experienced several changes in command personnel. The following changes were conducted: MAJ Shachnow to BN S-3, CPT Greenhouse from D Co. to BN S2, CPT Speedy from C Co. to BN Asst. S3, 1LT Wise to C Co. as CO., and A/1-502 IN OPCON to 3d Marine Division.

28 March 1968 At 0725H, B/2-501 IN reported two (2) body count from last night's activities. At 0937H, A/2-501 IN reported that 36 element fired on by PF in their location. At 1000H, B/2-501 IN reported observing three (3) individuals engaged them with unknown results at this time. At 1015H, B/2-501 IN reported 1 body count engaged by small arms fire. At 1145H, D/2-501 IN reported observing enemy person vicinity 636196 in bunker. At 1423H, B/2-501 IN observed enemy in dark colored uniform different from previously Khaki uniforms. At 1920H, A/2-501 IN security of FSB Geronimo; mine sweep mission; local patrols from Geronimo to Cane. B/2-501 IN had incoming grenades at 2130H and 2310 with no casualties. Confirmed body count of 2 at 0725H from previous night activity; three (3) enemy personnel withdraw from vicinity and engaged with 1 body count. D/2-501 IN at 0925H, 1220H, 1405H, 1517H, and 1620H had airstrike conducted. FAC reported extensive bunkers and trench systems at 1230H. D/2-501 IN moved out towards objective at 1315H and reached area at 1540H. Observed many trails eaten down underbrush, complex trench and bunker systems, with 35-40 bunkers observed. At 1817H, D/2-501 IN, Recon platoon reported two (2) more body count with a total of five (5). At 1823H, D/2-501 IN found medical records identifying unit 2nd Co. 9th Bn, 90th Signal Regiment. At 1850H, B/2-501 IN killed one (1) sniper. At 2041H, A/2-501 IN reported radar picked up four (4) people coming towards their position from southwest and will engage with M-79 when they get closer. At 2100H, A/2-501 IN engaged four (4) personnel with M-79, M-60, HE & Illumination. Will give assessment later. At 2150H, D/2-501 IN, Recon platoon being proved by six (6) or eight (8) personnel to their southwest. (HQ, 2-501 IN BN; Daily Staff Journal or Duty Officer's Log; 28 March 1968)

28 March – 15 April 1968 Operation JEB STUART/CARENTAN: Phase II: 2-502 IN BN had to devote most of its effort in preparation of FSB BASTOGNE. Initially C/2-502 IN and Recon were sent out into assigned AO's with both making daily small contacts with the enemy. The remainder of the 2-502 IN BN concentrated on building the defenses of FSB BASTOGNE and providing security for the three different sized artillery units. C/2-502 IN was replaced by A/2-502 IN in the SE and made the first major contact with enemy, drawing B/2-502 IN to its aid. Afterwards A/2-502 IN returned to the TAC-CP and B/2-502 IN continued combat operations in the AO. C/2-502 IN replaced B/2-502 IN in the AO orientated to the West and continued combat operations until the end of Phase II. All companies were given convoy security missions along Hwy 547 into BASTOGNE, with C/2-502 IN springing an enemy ambush. Convoys were made to BASTOGNE mainly to bring in the heavy artillery pieces and the heavy engineer's equipment. Additional units of communications and artillery were deployed to BASTOGNE eventually doubling the size of the FSB. During Phase II only limited combat operations could be conducted, because the FSB had to be constructed. Also due to its size it took two companies to secure it however more major contacts were made with the enemy during this phase. All companies securing Hwy 547 for convoys, had the use of the platoon from A/3-5 CAV, thus greatly increasing their firepower and mobility. The Cavalry platoon was also used to reinforce the Recon units once and B/2-502 IN once during their major engagements. Phase II ended 160001 April when the 1-101 ABN DIV began Operation DELAWARE. (HQ, 2-502 IN BN; Combat Operations After Action Report; Operation JEB STRUAT/CARENTAN; 25 April 1968)

28 March 1969 Operation MASSACHUSETTS STRIKER: A/1-502 IN, C/1-502 IN and Recon conducted RIF operations to the south with Recon finding 1 NVA KBA in a fresh grave and a quantity of equipment. B/1-502 IN secured FSB VEGHEL and at 1730H the firebase received 10-15 60mm and 82mm mortar rounds resulting in 7 US KIA. D/1-502 IN continued to RIF to the northwest.

28 March 1970 Operation RANDOLPH GLEN: (2-502 IN) In the afternoon an LZ was prepped for the insertion of the reconnaissance platoon. Once on the ground, the Platoon discovered the bodies of two NVA who had been killed by Artillery. (2-502 Unit History, Vietnam 1970; Approved by LTC Lloyd N. Cosby, IN Commanding)

28 March 1971 A/1-501 IN vicinity XD965457 received small arms fire while landing at LZ, also received 82mm or rockets. Results 3 US KIA.

29 March – 29 April 1967 Operation SUMMERALL: 1BDE, 101st ABN DIV (1/327 IN BN, 2/327 IN BN, 2/502 IN BN, A/2-17) begins Operation SUMMERALL, a search and destroy mission in the highlands of DARLAC, KHANH HOA and PHU YEN Provinces, between BUON EA YANG and KHANH DUONG. US losses are 7 killed and 43 wounded, enemy losses are 72 killed and 11 POWs.

29 March 1968 1-501 IN BN conducted a cordon operation four and one-half miles northwest of HUE. When an NVA platoon located in the village began to fire on them, air strikes and supporting artillery fire were called in. By early afternoon, the NVA broke contact and the paratroopers began a sweep of the village. Thirty-three bodies were found as well as 20 weapons. (Rendezvous with Destiny Volume 1, Number 2; July 1968)

29 – 31 March 1968 1-502 IN BN continued search and destroy operations in QUANG DIEN District and defense of AN LO Bridge and LZ SALLY. Very light contact was made with negative results.

29 March 1968 At 0125H, A/2-501 IN reported one man needing medevac, wounded in lower abdomen. No information at this time. Man located at bridge, A-6 bringing him to his location FSB GERONIMO. At 0415H, A-6 reported man wounded by grenade fragment and also has wounded NVA prisoner. At 0220H, A-6 reports wounded man will not need medevac at this time, can possibly use log bird tomorrow. NVA apparently threw grenade at sub element near bridge. Element shot up area pretty good, thought to have wounded man due to moans, will check area at first light. At 0710H, A/2-501 IN reported negative assessment on last night's activities. (HQ, 2-501 IN BN; Daily Staff Journal or Duty Officer's Log; 29 March 1968)

29 March 1969 Operation MASSACHUSETTS STRIKER: A/1-502 IN, C/1-502 IN and Recon conducted RIF to the south; at 0835H C/1-502 IN made contact with an estimated NVA squad in bunkers. Results: 6 US WIA, 2 US KIA, 1 NVA KIA, 1 IWC. B/1-502 IN secured FSB VEGHEL and D/1-502 IN conducted a RIF to the east to a PZ at YD487028 and at 1655H conducted a C/A to YC520942 and conducted a RIF to the southwest.

29 March 1969 At 2015H at coordinates YD526227 (9K Northeast of HUE City) CPA 3-1-8 while proceeding to ambush site, via check points, leading element point man observed movement at coordinates YD831229 moving towards enroute ambush unit and immediately set up a hasty ambush site at coordinates YD826227. Spurge ambush with small arms and M-79 fire the ambushed unit illuminated the area with M-79 alum and a green star cluster, while 3-1-8 called for artillery alum, During the waiting period, 3-1-8 received small arms fire but did not return small arms because their actual ordered a cease fire, possibility of ambushed unit being USA. After established identification with green star cluster, 3-1-8 moved in to assist with Medevac and LZ landing. 3-1-8 the returned to harbor site. Results: One (1) USA/KIA, two (2) USA/WIA. (From 3rd Combined Action Group CMD Chronology)

29 March 1971 Operation LAM SON 719: "Geronimo's" of D/1-501 IN discovered two enemy caves while on search and clear operations northwest of QUANG TRI in support of Operation LAM SON 719. The caves contained 35 – 82mm mortar rounds, 82 – 82mm mortar fuses, 50 – 60mm mortar rounds, nine 75mm recoilless rifle rounds, a quantity of pull-type fuses, and various other enemy equipment. (Rendezvous with Destiny (Volume 3, Number 4); Winter/Spring 1970-71)

30 March 1968 At 0807H, D/2-501 IN reports small pool of blood, poncho, 1 grenade; all was found at ambush site. At 1031H, D/2-501 IN located old mortar position vicinity 655248, does not appear to have been used in last two weeks. 30 March 1968 Seven and one-half miles east of Hue, D/2-501 IN found 31 NVA killed in a previous day's action in their area of operation (AO). (Rendezvous with Destiny Volume 1, Number 2; July 1968)

30 - 31 March 1968 D/1-501 IN first new objective was to clear out and eliminate a large NVA unit entrenched in a small farming village located about three miles' northeast of Hai Lang and just north of the boundary between QUANG TRI and TUA TIEN Provinces. D/1-501 IN (consisting of its Headquarters element of about 6 and three Platoons of about 25 each) arrived near the outskirts of the village late in the afternoon on the 30th. The village stood out clearly; it was surrounded by a vast expanse of rice paddies. The NVA, dug in and fortified, were certainly prepared to defend the village and its nearby cemetery. Since they were surrounded, they had no choice.

A short time after arrival at the village outskirts, D/1-501 IN Commanding Officer decided to conduct small-unit probing attacks to ascertain the strength and strong points of the NVA. The several probing attacks in the late afternoon and early evening proved one sure thing for the CO and the D/1-501 IN paratroopers; the NVA were ready to fight and to fight hard since there was little hope for most of them to sneak away and escape.

The CO established the plan of attack which called for an assault by two platoons at first light the next morning. The attack plan was direct and simple (there were few, if any, options considering the fact that the village was isolated out in the rice paddies) with two platoons comprising the initial attack element. The remaining platoon, as standard procedure, was to stand by in reserve. In D/1-501 IN, the CO established the reserve platoon on a daily rotational basis between the three platoons. As such, the 1st platoon's turn as reserve was on March 31st. The 2nd and 3rd platoon would then comprise the initial "first light" assault elements with the 2nd Platoon on the right and the 3rd on the left.

The village, as noted previously, was isolated out in a vast rice paddy area. The village was typical Vietnamese farming enclave with its adjacent and traditional Vietnamese cemetery above 50 yards from its outskirts.

Off to one corner of the village and along the left side (the left side being from the direction of the attack) of the cemetery was a shallow drainage ditch with scrub bamboo and other brush growing in it. As planned, the vegetated ditch was to serve as the dividing line between the two attacking Platoons.

On March 31st, at first light soon arrived for the paratroopers of D/1-501 IN and the attack by the 2nd and 3rd platoon on the village would commence. The NVA were quick to respond to the assault on their positions. The paratroopers faced intense rifle, machine gun and rocket propelled grenade fire from the entrenched NVA. In spite of the heavy enemy fire facing the (which resulted in several wounded-in-action casualties to their ranks), the 2nd and 3rd platoons made slow but steady progress toward their objectives. The 3rd platoon initially cleared out several enemy positions firing at them from the drainage ditch. Alternatively taking cover where available and laying down suppressing fire the platoon began maneuvering toward the small farm structures at the village edge. Upon receiving instructions from the CO, the 3rd platoon temporarily held its position while the 2nd platoon dealt with an unexpected strong enemy resistance at the cemetery. The 3rd platoon maintained its position and exchanged concentrated fire on the enemy at their defensive positions within the village. This action drew the village bound NVA's total attention. They were unable to provide support to the NVA that was stiffly engaging the 2nd Platoon as it approached the cemetery. The grave sites were ideal for defensive fighting positions and on the morning of March 31st, the NVA put them to good use.

With courageous and skilled leadership, the 2nd platoon Leader maneuvered his paratroopers who placed withering fire on the enemy at their grave site fortifications. The accurate and concentrated fire from their rifles, machine guns and grenade launchers kept the enemy down allowing effective use of hand grenades and more careful maneuvering. After more than two hours of this tactic, the 2nd platoon eliminated several enemy grave site positions along the edge of the cemetery and closest to its line of attack. Finally, the tables of the battle for the cemetery had slowly started to turn in the 2nd platoon favor. From the beginning of the attack at first light and throughout the period leading up to the taking the first few grave site enemy positions there was no question that the 2nd platoon was a "well-oiled" fighting machine as it engaged NVA with each paratrooper doing his job in a first-class resolute manner.

By this time the battle for the village had moved well into mid-morning. With the few initial grave site positions now in the 2nd Platoon's control and with the limited protection they provided, it was able to engage the stubborn NVA in fire and maneuver actions going from one grave site to another adjacent grave site eliminating the NVA in each as progress was achieved.

30 – 31 March 1968

D/1-501 IN BN, 2nd platoon, 2nd Brigade, 101st Airborne Division; During the last week of March 1968, D/1-501 IN moved to the north of the town of HAI LANG which was located at the northern edge of THUA TIEN Province and about ten miles south of the city of QUAN TRI. HAI LANG, situated on the coastal plain about five miles' inland from the South China Sea, served as a regional and inter-provincial traffic hub (Route 1 – A major north/south highway passed through) for distribution of agricultural products (mainly rice) grown in the area and for products from the nearby ocean fishing boats.

From the beginning of the TET Offensive that started in the dark early in the morning of January 31, 1968, D/1-501 IN, along with its sister companies of the 1-501 IN BN, was engaged in continuous day and night combat with regular North Vietnamese Soldiers (NVA) in and around HAI LANG. By the end of March, the NVA in Hai Lang and the area surrounding it were eliminated. It was time for the Battalion to move out to new areas where enemy forces were concentrated and to engage them in combat. Experience from the initial TET battles and the battles throughout the months of February and March, taught the D/1-501 IN paratroopers well. D/1-501 IN, with first-class leaders, was battle hardened. D/1-501 IN was skilled in combat discipline, teamwork and tactics; it was eager to engage the NVA in the battle at any time.

A short time after arrival at the village outskirts, the D/1-501 IN, Company Officer (CO) decided to conduct small-unit probing attacks to ascertain the strength and strong points of the NVA. The several probing attacks in the late afternoon and early evening proved one sure thing for the CO and the D/1-501 IN paratroopers; the NVA were ready to fight and to fight hard since there was little hope for most of them to sneak away and escape.

The CO established the plan to attack which called for an assault by two platoons at first light the next morning. The attack plan was direct and simple (there were few, if any, options considering the fact that the village was isolated out in the rice paddies) with two platoons comprising the initial attack element. The remaining platoon, as standard procedure, was to stand by in reserve. In D/1-501 IN, the CO established the reserve platoon on a daily rotational basis between the three platoons. As such, the 1st platoon turn as reserve was March 31st. The 2nd platoon and 3rd platoon would then comprise the initial "first light" assault elements with the 2nd platoon on the right and the 3rd platoon on the left.

The village, as noted previously, was isolated out in a vast rice paddy area. The village was a typical Vietnamese farming enclave with its adjacent and traditional Vietnamese cemetery about 50 yards from its outskirts.

Off to one corner of the village and along the left side (the left side being from the direction of the attack) of the cemetery was a shallow drainage ditch with scrub bamboo and other brush growing in it. As planned, the vegetated ditch was to serve as the dividing line between the two attacking Platoons.

On March 31st, the first light soon arrived for the paratroopers of D/1-501 IN and the attack by the 2nd platoon and 3rd platoon on the village commenced. The NVA were quick to respond to the assault on their positions. The paratroopers face intense rifle, machine gun and rocket propelled grenade fire from the entrenched NVA. In spite of the heavy enemy fire facing them (which resulted in several wounded-in-action (WIA) casualties to their ranks), the 2nd platoon and 3rd platoon made slow but steady progress toward their objectives. The 3rd platoon initially cleared out several enemy positions firing at them from the drainage ditch. Alternatively taking cover where available and laying down suppressing fire it began maneuvering toward the small farm structures at the village edge. Upon receiving instructions from the CO, the 3rd platoon temporarily held its position while the 2nd platoon dealt with an unexpected strong enemy resistance at the cemetery. The 3rd platoon maintained its position and exchanged concentrated fire on the enemy at their defensive positions with the village. This action drew the village bound NVA's total attention. They were unable to provide support to the NVA that was stiffly engaging the 2nd platoon as it approached the cemetery.

A Vietnamese cemetery consists of numerous gravesites that are at ground level. A grave is covered with a durable concrete seal and is set on a thick concrete slab. Each grave is further surrounded by a low (about 3 feet high) decorative masonry railing supported by numerous decorative masonry posts and religious symbols. The grave sites were ideal for defensive fighting positions and on the morning of March 31st, the NVA put them to good use.

With courageous and skilled leadership, the 2nd platoon leader maneuvered his paratroopers who placed withering fire on the enemy at their grave site fortifications. The accurate and concentrated fire from their rifles, machine guns and grenade launchers kept the enemy down allowing effective use of hand grenades and more careful maneuvering. After more than two hours of this tactic, the 2nd platoon eliminated several enemy grave site positions along the edge of the cemetery and closest to its line of attack. Finally, the tables of the battle for the cemetery had slowly started to turn in the 2nd platoon's favor. From the beginning of the attack at first light and throughout the period leading up to the taking of the first few grave site enemy positions, PFC Danny Stephens, along with his 2nd platoon comrades, performed his duty as a rifleman with determination, skill and courage. There is no question that on the morning, the 2nd platoon was a 'well-oiled' fighting machine as it engaged the NVA with each paratrooper doing his job in a first-class and resolute manner.

By this time the battle for the village had moved well into mid-morning. With the few initial grave site positions now in the 2nd platoon's control and with the limited protection they provided, it was able to engage the stubborn NVA in fire and maneuver actions going from one grave site to another adjacent grave site eliminating the NVA in each as progress was achieved.

It was during the mid-morning period of the battle among the cemetery's masonry structures that PFC Danny Stephens, while providing intense suppressing fire on the NVA, received an instantly fatal single shot to his upper chest.

PFC Stephens had taken cover in one of the grave site positions. Lying prone, he was covered on most sides by the stone posts and railing of the low enclosures that defined the borders of this particular grave site. Enemy forces were within 30 to 50 yards of the 2nd platoon line. As the squad on his right engaged the enemy by throwing hand grenades at the enemy positions to their front, PFC Stephens provided effective suppressive fire on the enemy while his comrades were throwing the grenades. He was doing everything correctly; ran, not exposing himself unnecessarily, shielding himself behind available cover and firing at the enemy. Unfortunately, an enemy rifleman was able to engage his position through a very narrow field of fire and by firing only inches above the ground.

After driving the enemy from the cemetery by late morning, D/1-501 IN attack halted to regroup and re-arm. During this lull the enemy engaged the cemetery area with what were estimated to be 60-mm mortars. The 2nd platoon, platoon leader and his Radio Telephone Operator (RTO) and several other members of the platoon were wounded. The NVA mortar attack essentially blunted the attack on the village. The CO then decided to pull the two assault platoons back and to establish a cordon around the village.

After the cordon was established, the CO called for artillery fire to pound the village and the NVA in it. The artillery fire softened the area for the remainder of the day and throughout the night. That night, a squad from the 1st platoon successfully set-up and ambush at a trail along a dike leading out of the village. They made contact and early the next morning, while policing the ambush site, they found, among other fallen NVA, one wounded enemy who was taken prisoner.

As was after the case, the few NVA that remained in the village and who survived the battle and the artillery exfiltrated during the night.

Early the next day, D/1-501 IN was able to enter the village without any enemy resistance. (After Action Report written by: David A. Lamenzo (former 1LT and former D Company XO and Third Platoon Leader))

30 March 1969

Operation MASSACHUSETTS STRIKER: A/1-502 IN, C/1-502 IN and Recon continued to RIF to the south. A/1-502 IN had 1 US WIA from D/1-502 IN contact. B/1-502 IN secured FSB VEGHEL and D/1-502 IN conducted a RIF to the west. At 1215H, D/1-502 IN made contact with an estimated NVA squad; sporadic contact continued until 1845H when D/1-502 IN moved to the west. Results: 10 US WIA, 1 VN WIA.

30 March 1970

Operation RANDOLPH GLEN: 1-502 IN, Recon team #1 spotted a flashlight approximately 300 meters from their location. D/1-502 IN located 6-10 old bunkers at 76404. A/1-502 IN, 1st platoon, 1st squad found a CHICOM grenade which they blew in place. Recon at location 763045 found two bunkers with a variety of equipment inside including a NVA poncho, AK-47 magazine, and several rounds of ammo. The estimated age of the bunker was 1 year.

30 March 1970 A/1-501 IN CP was struck by the enemy, 22km north of A SHAU Valley. The 5-hour midnight attack with RPGs and satchel charges was halted by US artillery fire which prevented penetration. 8 US were wounded and four killed while the enemy lost only three killed. (HQ, USMACV; Command History 1970, Volume III; 19 April 1971)

31 March 1968 All 2-501 IN BN elements conducted movement to ambush locations with negative results. (HQ, 2-501 IN BN; Daily Staff Journal or Duty Officer's Log; 31 March 1968)

31 March 1968 The last day of Operation Carentan saw no let-up in the relentless search for enemy Soldiers and local VC in the HUE area. Fifteen miles northwest of the imperial city, airborne artillerymen from the 1-321 ARTY were called by an aerial observer and immediately trapped 85-100 NVA Soldiers in an open field with accurate fire. Thirty of the NVA were killed. Six and one-half miles west of Hue, members of the 1-501 IN BN encountered a well-positioned enemy company. They called in air strikes that resulted in several secondary explosions. A quick search of the area uncovered 18 enemies' dead. During the operation, 861 enemies were killed. The total weapons and munitions captured included 186 individual and crew-served weapons, while 1,027 rocket, mortar, and artillery rounds were kept from the enemy. More than 41,000 rounds of small arms ammunition and 45 hand grenades were captured, along with nearly 17 tons of rice and grain.

PFC William D. Montgomery (C/2-501 IN) was awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Valor (1-OLC) for heroism in ground combat against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam on 25 March 1968. Private First Class Montgomery distinguished himself while serving as a team leader with Company C, 2d Battalion, 501st Infantry. Company C was on a reconnaissance operation near Hue, Republic of Vietnam, when they made contact with an enemy entrenched in well-fortified positions. Private First Class Montgomery was moving with the third platoon which was the second element of the movement. When the first platoon sustained heavy enemy fire, Private First Class Montgomery's platoon was maneuvered to the left in order to relieve the enemy pressure of the lead element and to put out supporting fire on the enemy position. However, while moving, the third platoon also encountered heavy fire in the form of automatic weapons and grenades, severely wounding two men. With utter disregard for his own safety, Private First Class Montgomery along with another man moved through the lethal enemy fire to the fallen Soldiers, applied first aid, and then carried them to the rear in order to be evacuated. Then unhesitatingly Private First Class Montgomery moved back to the heavy hostile fire and began to assault an enemy position. While crawling and alternately firing his weapon and throwing grenades, disdainful of his own safety, Private First Class Montgomery calmly placed such effective fire on the well-fortified position that he destroyed not only the position but all the enemy within. With the enemy silenced Private First Class Montgomery reorganized the men in his team and moved forward again. His unwavering courage and fierce determination not only destroyed the enemy position but took pressure off the rest of the company and allowed them to regroup. Private First Class Montgomery's personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. MAJ John C. Reid (HHC/1-502 IN) was awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in the Republic of Vietnam on 25 March 1969. Major Reid distinguished himself while serving as the Battalion S-3, 1st Battalion, 502d Infantry, during a reconnaissance in force mission east of the A Shau Valley, Republic of Vietnam. Major Reid was moving with the Command Group of Company B when the lead element came under heavy automatic weapons and rocket propelled grenade fire. The First and Third Platoon were pinned down and the First Platoon had called for more ammunition. Major Reid secured the necessary ammunition and started forward under heavy fire. Once forward, he located the Third Platoon, which was pinned down by rocket propelled grenade and automatic weapons fire. During this time, the Second Platoon was maneuvering on the right flank and had come under fire. A ninety-millimeter recoilless rifle which was being used to clear the area of snipers was located with the Second Platoon. Major Reid instructed two men to watch carefully while he drew fire on an open trail in an effort to locate the enemy positions. He then proceeded to move across the trail under intense enemy fire and joined the Second Platoon, which was just beginning an assault. He then located the recoilless rifle whose gunner had been killed. He took the weapon and then assaulted with the platoon firing the weapon as he moved. After turning the weapon over to another man, he returned to the Third Platoon which was still pinned down. He resolutely moved from man to man, encouraging them to move in an assault which succeeded in routing the enemy from their positions, leaving two enemy casualties behind. Through his courage and outstanding leadership, he contributed to the success of the mission immeasurably. Major Reid's personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. While leading a patrol, Lieutenant Takeda's platoon came under intense enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire. Although wounded by the enemy fire, Lieutenant Takeda directed the suppressive fire of his platoon. He then led and assault on the enemy positions, continuing even after being wounded a second time. Through-out the encounter he directed his element's fire, radioed for support, and directed the evacuation of the wounded. His efforts were instrumental in routing the enemy from the area. 2LT Michael L. Gandy (B/1-501 IN) was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross (Posthumously) for extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations involving conflict with an armed hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam, while serving with Company B, 1st Battalion (Airborne), 501st Infantry, 2d Brigade, 101st Airborne Division. Second Lieutenant Gandy distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions on 29 March 1968 as a platoon leader during a search and clear mission on the west bank of the Song Bo River. A three-man scout team was crossing the river in a sampan when it came under an intense barrage of enemy fire, killing one man instantly. The other two men were wounded and sought protection in a bamboo thicket on the river bank. Lieutenant Gandy moved from squad to squad, encouraging his men and directing their fire against the communists. Six of his troops attempted to cross the river to rescue the two casualties by pushing a sampan before them for protection, but were carried downstream by the strong current. Despite the vicious enemy fire, Lieutenant Gandy dropped his equipment, made his way to the river's edge, and swam the seventy-five meters to the other side. Upon reaching the river bank, he found that only one of the scouts was alive. Grabbing hold of him, he began the hazardous swim back through intense hostile small arms and automatic weapons fire. As he approached mid-stream, the scout was hit and disappeared beneath the water. A few seconds later, Lieutenant Gandy was mortally wounded by the enemy fusillade. Second Lieutenant Gandy's extraordinary heroism and devotion to duty, and the cost of his life, were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. PFC Stephen W. York (B/1-501 IN) was awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in the Republic of Vietnam on 29 March 1968. Private First Class York distinguished himself while serving as a machine gunner of Company B, 1st Battalion (Airborne), 501st Infantry during a combat operation along the Song Bo River, Thua Thien Province, Republic of Vietnam. Before attempting to cross the river, a three-man point team was sent across in advance to secure the far bank. Upon reaching the opposite side of the river, the point team came under intense automatic and small arms fire wounding all three men. Cries for help from the wounded men could be heard from across the river. Realizing the seriousness of the situation, Private First Class York volunteered to assist in an attempt to rescue the wounded men. With complete disregard for his own personal safety, and carrying his machine gun, he, along with the other members of the rescue team, began to make their way across the river using a sampan for cover. They proceeded to the center of the river under a hail of enemy fire. Then the strong current caused the sampan to turn around, thereby exposing the rescue team to the heavy volume of fire being directed at them. Supporting his machine gun on the sampan, Private First Class York managed to place effective fire on the enemy positions while exposing himself to their fire, thereby allowing the remainder of the rescue team to effect a withdrawal back to the near bank of the river. Although the rescue attempt did not succeed, in their heroic effort to save their comrades, Private First Class York's personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. Exposing himself to the increasing volume of fire, Sergeant Kimber moved to a forward position directing his squad to cover the withdrawal of the rest of the element. After insuring the safety of his platoon, Sergeant Kimber directed his squad to withdraw while he put out devastating suppressive fire on the enemy. As his squad withdrew, Sergeant Kimber was fatally wounded. Staff Sergeant Kimber's gallantry in action was in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. 1LT Timothy P. McCollum (D/1-502 IN) was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations involving conflict with an armed hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam, while serving with Company D, 1st Battalion, 502d Infantry, 101st Airborne Division. First Lieutenant McCollum distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions on 31 March 1969 while leading his platoon in the hills south of the A Shau Valley. His company was engaged in a fierce firefight with a North Vietnamese force holding ridge from well-fortified positions. A ravine separating the two opposing forces obviated a direct assault on the enemy's positions. Undertaking an intricate flanking maneuver, Lieutenant McCollum infiltrated his men across the open ravine under heavy crossfire and ascended the heights behind the enemy as the company's main force continued firing on the hostile element's front. After overtly signaling friendly fire away from his position, he initiated a systematic sweep down through the enemy's hillside emplacements. He attacked an enemy bunker and overcame its unsuspecting occupant. An alerted North Vietnamese then turned and fired from his spider hole, seriously wounding an American. Realizing that the wounded man's recovery hinged on immediate evacuation, Lieutenant McCollum enlisted another soldier's aid and together they carried the casualty down the ridge through enemy positions. Their descent was obstructed by harassing fire from a nearby bunker. Lieutenant McCollum destroyed the fortification with grenades. When the wounded soldier had been delivered to safety, he made his way back to his men by the same treacherous route under a storm of machine gun and rocket-propelled grenade fire. First Lieutenant McCollum's extraordinary heroism and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. His actions were instrumental in routing the enemy from the area.
